DETAILED ACTION

This action is in response to the Application filed on 5 January 2007 in which claims 1-20 are pending.

Claim Objections

Claim 7 is objected to because of the following informalities: the grammatical article “an” is incorrect. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5-6, 9-13, 15-16, and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Glazer et al U.S. Patent No. 2,581,251).

Regarding claim 1, Glazer teaches a weather guard, comprising: a frame (fig. 1) comprising a plurality of interconnected rigid members defining a supporting structure, the frame further comprising: a pair of opposed horizontal transverse members (roof, 11) rigidly attached to a pair of opposed cross members (W1-W3) substantially perpendicular to the transverse members forming a substantially horizontal rigid body; at least one downwardly extending vertical support member (10, 15) connected to the horizontal rigid body, the at least one vertical support member is connected to one of the cross members; at least one bracket (near 10, fig. 3) comprising a first end and a second end, the first end is attached to the horizontal rigid body and the second end extends downwardly at an angle θ to the vertical support member, wherein the second end of the at least one bracket is attached to the vertical support member; and a membrane (sound absorbent material, col. 3 lines 25-40) attached to the frame defining an opening, wherein the membrane forms a shield against environmental conditions inside the opening.

Regarding claim 2, Glazer teaches the weather guard of claim 1, further comprising two opposing downwardly extending vertical support members (10, 15) connected to each one of the corresponding cross members of the substantially horizontal rigid body.

Regarding claims 3, Glazer teaches the weather guard of claim 1, further comprising two brackets (near 10) attached to any one of the opposing cross members, the transverse members, and an intersection point thereof.

Regarding claim 5, Glazer teaches the weather guard of claim 1, wherein the vertical support member (10) is extendable.

Regarding claim 6, Glazer teaches the weather guard of claim 5, wherein the vertical support member (10) is telescopically extendable.

Regarding claim 9, Glazer teaches the weather guard of claim 1, wherein the membrane is a single impermeable membrane (sound absorbent material, col. 3 lines 25-40).

Regarding claim 10, Glazer teaches the weather guard of claim 1, wherein the membrane is a plurality of impermeable membranes (sound absorbent material, col. 3 lines 25-40) in the form of individual panels that are separately attached to the frame.

Regarding claims 11-13, 15-16, and 19-20, see the corresponding rejections above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4, 7-8, 14, and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Glazer et al.

Regarding claims 4, 7-8, 14, and 17-18, Glazer fails to teach the weather guard of claim 1, further comprising a first leg and a second leg for anchoring the weather guard into the ground, wherein one end of the first and second legs is attached to the attached at one end to a corresponding vertical support member; further comprising a horizontal transverse brace member attached between the vertical support members; and/or further comprising a fastener for removably attaching the weather guard to any one of an enclosure and an exterior portion of the structure around an opening thereof.

However, the Examiner takes official notice that it is known in the art to provide anchoring means for securing the weather guard to a stationary structure.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include a anchoring means in the invention of Glazer as taught for the reason stated.
